

IN MENT

to Act Goes day of the on the ement depart-ement ed that papers ber of ing to a "gen-ing the some ers.

h calls tention ed that papers

reason salaries handling corol-he that called keeps instead y was of the gation with fanizawas an al obli-answered nters of police-under showed retire-100 in since ations been re-ective t time tantan-

ERNEST M. MORRIS
Associated Press, 1950

DR. H. STRASBURGER, POLISH EX-ENVOY, 63

Ambassador to London, 1944 to 1946, Dies There in Exile
—Warned of Hitler Menace

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
LONDON, May 3—Dr. Henryk Strasburger, Polish Ambassador in London from 1944 to 1946, died yesterday in this city, where he lived in exile. He was 63 years old.
Dr. Strasburger left Poland in 1939 and was Minister of Finance, Industry and Commerce in the Sikorski Government in London from 1939 to 1942. After working for that government in the Middle East, he accepted the Ambassadorship in London at the bidding of Stanislaw Mikolajczyk. When the Communists gained complete control of the Polish Government, Dr. Strasburger's work in Britain became more and more difficult and his idea of fostering closer relations between the countries was continually frustrated from Warsaw.
He was recalled in 1946 and other positions were offered to him. On the pretext of returning to London to take his formal leave as Ambassador, Dr. Strasburger again left Poland and settled here with his wife and children.
Dr. Strasburger was a member of the first Free Polish Government, after the First World War, as Under Secretary of the Ministry of Commerce and Industry. He was a member of the Polish peace delegation at Riga in 1921 and also a delegate to the League of Nations. Afterward he joined the Polish Foreign Office and in 1924 became Polish Commissioner in the Free State of Danzig. He was among the earliest and most outspoken of Poles to recognize the Hitler menace to his country. His warning was clear in his book "The Case of Danzig," published some months before the outbreak of the second World War.

WILLIAM K. NORRIS
Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
ST. LOUIS, May 3—William K. Norris, a founder of the McQuay-Norris Manufacturing Company, died today at his home in subur-

E. M. MORRIS DEAD; FINANCIER, WAS 68

South Bend Business Leader
Founded Board of Associates Investment Company

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
SOUTH BEND, Ind., May 3—Ernest M. Morris, widely known business man and philanthropist, died early today in Memorial Hospital of a cerebral hemorrhage at the age of 68. He had been in poor health for two years.
One of South Bend's most widely known citizens, Mr. Morris had been active in Republican politics and was a former G. O. P. national committeeman from Indiana. He was founder and chairman of the Board of Associates Investment Company, which has become the third largest independent finance company in the United States. He organized the National Association of Finance Companies in 1926 and served as its first president.
His life story is the typical American success story of a poor boy born in a log cabin who rose to the top of the business world. The log cabin was on a farm in Marshall County, where he was born on Dec. 17, 1882. Educated at a country school, he attended Valparaiso University, where he was graduated in 1905.
After teaching school, Mr. Morris attended the University of Notre Dame, where he received a law degree. He then began the practice of law in South Bend.
During the first World War, Mr. Morris bought the Durham Manufacturing Plants in Muncie and Fort Wayne and produced projectiles, fuses, depth bombs and mines.
In later years he remembered his alma mater, giving $1,000,000 to Notre Dame for construction of the Morris Inn, a center for visitors at the campus. The building is now under construction. He and Mrs. Morris were active in creating and supporting the South Bend Symphony Orchestra.

Besides his wife, Ella, he leaves two daughters, Mrs. Robert L. Oare of South Bend and Mrs. Oliver P. Carmichael Jr. of New York.

EVERETT H. BROWN JR.

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
PHILADELPHIA, May 3—Everett H. Brown Jr., lawyer and past president of the Germantown, Y. M. C. A., which he served as a director for a quarter century, died yesterday in Pennsylvania Hospital at the age of 63.
Mr. Brown was also a director of the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the National Bank of Germantown and the Automobile Club of Philadelphia. He was graduated from Germantown Academy, the University of Pennsylvania and the latter's law school.
He was a member of many organizations, including the Sons of the Revolution, the Pennsylvania Historical Society, the Union League, the World Affairs Council and the American Bar Association. His clubs included the Midway, Pennsylvania Varsity, Right Angle, Seven Island Duck and the Farmington (Charlottesville, Va.) Country.
Surviving are his widow, the former Ruth Leeds, and two daughters, Mrs. Robert J. Carson Jr. and Mrs. Frank J. Oehlschlager.

GEN. LYTLE BROWN, 78, ENGINEERS EX-CHIEF

FRANKLIN, Tenn., May 3 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, former Chief of the Army Corps of Engineers, died at his home near here today after a brief illness. His age was 78.
While commanding a battalion of engineers at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., in 1911, General Brown made Douglas MacArthur, future General of the Army, his Adjutant. When General MacArthur was Army Chief of Staff, he placed General Brown in charge of the Panama Canal district.
The latter, who retired in 1936, was born in Nashville, Tenn. He was Chief of Engineers from 1929 to 1933.

After graduation from West Point in 1898, General Brown was commissioned a second lieutenant of engineers. He received the rank of colonel in 1917 and wartime brigadier the next year.
He served at the Battle of San Juan and the siege of Santiago in the war with Spain, and also in the Philippines, where he became city engineer of Manila and engineering officer for Northern Luzon.

In 1903 he returned to take up duties as an instructor at West Point, remaining until 1907, when he was placed in command of Company E, Second Battalion of Engineers. In 1908 he assumed charge of the Louisville, Ky., engineering district, where he stayed four years.

As commander of the Second Battalion in 1916 he was engineers officer for the Mexican Border punitive force. During the first World War he had charge of the Nashville, Tenn., engineering district. He was made a brigadier of the permanent peacetime establishment in 1928.

General Brown also commanded many other districts for the engineers, both in this country and in the Panama Canal department. He served in important advisory capacities during the second World War.

W. H. BERRY, COMIC ON BRITISH STAGE

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
LONDON, May 3—W. H. Berry, for more than two decades one of Britain's leading comedians, died in his home at Herne Bay last night. He was 81 years old.
Five shillings and a glass of beer made up his first pay as a comedian in a London "pub" in 1890.
Forty years later, he turned down a tempting Hollywood offer to play Micawber in Dickens' "David Copperfield" because his wife was ill. The part went to W. C. Fields.
In twenty-five years on the London stage, he appeared in forty big West End hits—most of the favorites since the turn of the century—of which, in Mr. Berry's opinion, the best was "The Merry Widow."
His last stage appearance was in a revival of "A Waltz Dream," in 1935.

In 1927, Mr. Berry was one of a group of actors and actresses who agreed to forego their salaries to keep a musical comedy at the Gaiety Theatre in London from closing. The principal stars in the production volunteered to take the action so that the chorus would not be thrown out of work after one of the backers of the show failed.

J. L. SESSLER, 55, EXPERT IN PRINTS

Philadelphia Bibliophile Dies—Purchased and Sold Many Rare Books, Manuscripts

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
PHILADELPHIA, May 3—J. Leonard Sessler, bibliophile, print expert and dealer in manuscripts and art, died last night in the University of Pennsylvania Hospital after an illness of two months. He was 55 years old.
Mr. Sessler was the head of Charles Sessler, mid-city dealers in rare books, prints, paintings and autographs. The business was founded in 1882 by his father, Charles, who died in 1935.

During his travels throughout Europe, where he studied art, Mr. Sessler purchased and sold rare books and manuscripts. He bought many of the etchings and engravings for the famed Lessing Rosenwald collection.
Among his purchases in Europe was a Rembrandt etching which he acquired in 1929 in Leipzig, Germany, for some $20,000. It is regarded by many as the finest impression of its kind in the world. Another of his acquisitions was Ulrich Richental's "Chronicle of the Council of Constance," purchased in Wurttemberg in 1930 for $30,000.

Mr. Sessler was a member of the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts, the Print Club, the Art Alliance, the Contemporary Art Association, the Locust Club, the Philadelphia Art Museum and the Historical Society of Pennsylvania.
Surviving are his widow, Miriam, and two sisters.

J. STANLEY DAVIS, 60, INVESTMENT BANKER

J. Stanley Davis of Wilson Point, South Norwalk, Conn., an associate of Shields & Co., stock brokerage firm of 44 Wall Street, and of the Brunner Manufacturing Company, makers of air compressors, of Utica, N. Y., died on Monday at Hamilton, Bermuda, where he was vacationing. His age was 60.

Mr. Davis had long been active in the investment banking field. He was a former partner in Hemp-hill, Noyes & Co., and a former vice president and treasurer of George R. Cooley & Co. of Albany.
A member of the executive council of the New York State Bankers Association, he was an officer and director of many banks and corporations in this state. He served in the Army as an officer in both World Wars, and had been active in veterans' organizations.
A trustee and treasurer of Memorial Hospital in Albany, he was also a trustee of Westminster Presbyterian Church there. He belonged to Rotary International and the Masons.

Mr. Davis's first wife, Mrs. Marion Josina Cantine Davis, died in 1948. He leaves his second wife, Mrs. Nomina Twining Davis; a daughter, Mrs. Marion Delgado; a brother, Joe R. Davis, and two grandsons Robert and Paul D. Davis.

Bea

BRUNNER—May H., wife of 40 Hawthorn N. J., on May 2, 1951, Friday evening, May 2, Smith & Smith (S. Ave., Springfield, N. H., D. L. & W.).

CIETRON—Sigmund, beloved devoted father of Services at "Schwartz Tremont Ave. (near Bronx, Friday, 10 A.

CRAMES—Anna, beloved voted mother of Charles Funeral services today West Chapel, 115 West

DALEBROOK—Charles of 115c, devoted father brother of Little Corp Services today, 11:15 A. 76th St. and Amsterdam

DALEBROOK—Charles M. Velt Lodge, No. 1378, Hills, announced with of its past president founder of our Lodge. bers are urged to attend at Riverside Memorial Amsterdam Ave., Erie A. M. BERT SESSLER

DAVIS—J. Stanley, A. Nomina Twining, father of Robert Lav Stanley Delgado, Fumer Presbyterian Church, Saturday afternoon at DELUCA—Francis J. M. loved husband of E. father of Gail Ann, J. father of Marilyn Ann, son brother of G. J. A. Josephine DeLuca, J. Davidson, Reposing at Funeral Home, 1015 Hollis, until Saturday Requiem Mass, Church at 10 A. M. Interment Cemetery.

DELUCA—Francis J. T. Alumni Society records the death of FRANCIS J. EDGAR J. PAUL SWIN EDGAR J. RUSSEY.

DEVLIN—Beatrice (nee 1951, beloved wife of mother of Vincent A. John T. Devlin; sister of Philip M. Oppol, Michael Finerman, and Reposing at "The Abb Solemna Requiem Mass Name, 96th St. and A. urday, May 5, 10 A. M.

DRUCKMAN—Samuel M. Sadie, dear father of loving brother of Henry adored grandfather. S. A. M., at St. Ann's Chapel, 1283 Coney Island

DUNKER—Garfield Lodge announce with profound of life member Brother May 4, 1951, at Wilson Home, 276 Washington

EARL—Mary Lou, age April 15. Survived by and Florence Earl; also sister, Susan, 1 urday, May 4, 1951, at St. Interment Rockland Co. Stevenson Funeral Home

FORMAN—Marjorie Tys Kichman, N. Y., wife mother of 5. L. A. Forman. Services St. Waterbury Funeral Home

GOLDBERG—Celia, adored beloved mother of M. Theodore, daughter of William and Sandra Funeral Chapel, Church Bush and Bedford Ave. May 4, 1951, at St. Ann's Chapel, 1825 Coney Island

GOLDBERG—Celia. Com records passing of our ber."

GREENFIELD—Lea D. Israel of Bensonhurst sorrow the passing of brother of our member Eber, May 4, today, at St. Chapel, 1825 Coney Island

I. R. HOROWITZ, Se GRUBER—Paul, beloved Kichman, Leoline B. loving grandfather of Oscar. Services Friday Riverside, 76th St. and

GUBA—Norma, on May 3, Mrs. M. J. and John B. C. St. George's Chapel, 160 Square, Saturday, May HAHNEBERGER—Dora Regent Funeral Home, 8 P. M. Interment

HOFFMAN—Edna Arden, on May 2, 1951, be C. P. Hoffman, mother of Mrs. Dorothy H. Lauria Fitzpatrick. Reposing Leary Funeral Home, E. Congregation of St. Friday, May 4, at 2 P. M. in lieu of flowers, if memorial contribution clathro